Appendix 1 supplementary data figure

Figure 1: ‘Caterpillar’ plot of practices’ multilevel shrunken residuals ranked in ascending order with 95% confidence intervals*
Practices ranked in ascending order of prevalence of prolonged prescribing of antipsychotics to people with dementia.
* A practice with a positive value whose 95% confidence interval does not include zero is statistically significantly more likely to prescribe prolonged antipsychotics than average, and vice versa for practices with negative values.