The graph shows the change in free energy ($\Delta \Delta G$) over the number of relaxation rounds for both wild-type and mutant samples. As the number of rounds increases, the $\Delta \Delta G$ values decrease, indicating a decrease in free energy, with the wild-type sample showing a more gradual decrease compared to the mutant sample.