

Figure S2 Functional architecture of the MepmiRDB. MepmiRDB is an open-access database that provides the web service for browsing and querying the information of the predicted miRNAs, especially on their sequences, structures, expression profiles and interaction networks.