Erratum

Risk of rheumatoid arthritis development in patients with unclassified arthritis according to the 2010 ACR/EULAR criteria for rheumatoid arthritis

Annemarie Krabben, Abhishek Abhishek, Karin Britsemer, Andrew Filer, Tom W. J. Huizinga, Karim Raza, Dirk-Jan van Schaardenburg and Annette H. M. van der Helm-van Mil

In the above paper, errors were made in the correction of the first key message, specifically, the percentage was wrongly given as 12–16% instead of 12–26% and the word UA was omitted. The correct key messages should read:

Key messages

- During the first year, 12–26% of 2010 UA patients progress to RA.
- 2010 UA patients who progress to RA could not be identified by ACPA status or the Leiden prediction rule.
- DMARD therapy should not be withheld from 2010 UA patients just because they do not fulfil the 2010 criteria.